

GER Guided Reflection on Student Learning

1. List GER objectives. Beneath each objective, place the appropriate student learning outcome(s) and means of evaluating the outcome(s).
2. Summarize the evaluation for each of the outcomes based on data from the designated means of evaluating the outcome.
3. Generalize what you have learned about the effectiveness of your course as a GER course (areas that meet your expectations and areas that need improvement).
4. Describe any changes you have made based on your assessment since submission of the last Guided Reflection: changes to improve your course as a GER course and changes to improve the methods of assessing your course.
5. Describe any changes you intend to make based on your assessment: changes to improve your course as a GER course and changes to improve the methods of assessing your course.
