

Making an Impression

At SteelFab of Virginia, Inc., which provides the construction industry with quality fabricated steel products and services in six facilities located throughout the United States, NC State Co-op students play a significant role in the company's work and overall success, according to president (and NC State alum) Rob Burlington.