Client

North Carolina State University (NCSU)

Lorenc+Yoo devised a "kit of parts" for NCSU's ongoing, campus-wide system. These photos highlight Centennial Campus, where the university also leases space to high-tech companies, such as Asea Brown Boveri. The system comprises 1/4-in.-thick, aluminum-plate exterior panels that are integrated into aluminum tubes, plates, caps and extruded angle. The fabricator decorated the signs with Matthews acrylic-polyurethane silver and red, as well as 3M Scotchcal™ 3650 satin-finish red and Scotchcal 3470 high-gloss, white vinyl. The faces are fastened with round, stainless-steel-finish, Allen-head fasteners and black, nylon washers.
