- architects
- engineers
- facility managers
- building owners
- city planners
- home builders
- developers
- home owners
- school facility planners
- anyone else with an interest in sustainable buildings

To Attend GreenNC

Just come! The tradeshow is free and there is no registration required.

Who Should Exhibit?

Anyone involved with the greening of commercial, industrial, or residential buildings. Exhibitor and sponsor information is on the back of this postcard; to register as an exhibitor visit www.greenncradeshow.com.

Expanded Residential Section

Last year's residential pavilion was a big success and has been expanded into nearly 40% of this year's tradeshow booths.

Luncheon

A luncheon with a -TBA- speaker is an additional opportunity for learning about current sustainability issues and networking with local leaders and professionals in the green building industry. Luncheon registration is $35; $20 for students with student id; see website www.greenncradeshow.com to register.

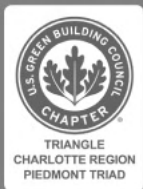

LEED Workshops

On the day after the tradeshow, September 10, one full-day and two half-day LEED workshops will be offered at the Raleigh Convention Center. Course costs will follow the standard USGBC pricing.

For more information and to register visit www.usgbc.org/Workshops.

Visit www.greenncradeshow.com for more details. Plan to attend today!
