This brochure is a guide to agencies and organizations that provide information about forestry opportunities for landowners. Some agencies also have incentive and cost-share programs that provide financial assistance.

The enclosed insert lists internet URLs for the agencies and organizations. Check the Sustainable Woodlands webpage for updates of this list: www.ncsu.edu/woodlands. Contact information can also be found in the government pages of the phone book.

In a few cases, the type of individual or institution that may provide assistance for your forestry questions and planning is listed. Examples are 'private consulting forester' or 'probate court'. The county forest ranger can provide lists of consultants and nurseries. Use the government pages or yellow pages in a local phone book to find contact information for others types of institutions.

The Cooperative Extension Service can also help find contact information.
